communication costs. With Scalix you will reduce the costs associated with housing your own equipment, licensing fees, hardware and software maintenance expenses, IT support costs and user management.

Scalix is a comprehensive correspondence platform that is essential for any business looking for a more affordable solution in reducing electronic Scalix is an extremely reliable and secure Linux-based groupware server that functions as an alternative to hosted Microsoft Exchange e-mail solutions. Scalix will maintain full Microsoft Outlook support providing your organization with email, calendar, contacts, tasks, and folders that can be accessed by and readily available to any user at any time.

Your company will not be burdened by downtime for system reboots or new software installations performed by in-house IT staff when you choose Scalix for your business' email and calendaring communications. Webplanet.ca provides you with server management and hosting of the Scalix system. It does not require any new hardware, all software upgrades are included, and daily server backups are administered.

Scalix is beneficial to any organization, large or small, and can be inexpensively upgraded to advanced versions as the demands of your business increases.
